

ADVENTURER

(TURBULENT)

ISFP-T

ROLE: EXPLORER

Observant (S) and Prospecting (P) personality types, known for their spontaneity, ingenuity, and ability to live in the moment.

STRATEGY: CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT

Constant Improvers are quiet, individualistic people. They tend to be success-driven and often perfectionistic, spending a lot of time and effort on their work.

TRAITS

Introverted (I) individuals prefer solitary activities and get exhausted by social interaction. They tend to be quite sensitive to external stimulation (e.g. sound) in general.

Observant (S) individuals are highly practical, pragmatic and down-to-earth. They tend to have strong habits and focus on what is happening or has already happened.

Feeling (F) individuals are sensitive and emotionally expressive. They are more empathic and less competitive than Thinking types, and focus on social harmony and cooperation.

Prospecting (P) individuals are very good at improvising and spotting opportunities. They tend to be flexible, relaxed nonconformists who prefer keeping their options open.

Turbulent (-T) individuals are self-conscious and sensitive to stress. They are likely to experience a wide range of emotions and to be success-driven, perfectionistic and eager to improve.

RESEARCH INSIGHT

Turbulent Adventurers are the most likely personality type to believe that animals are conscious beings.

STRENGTHS

Charming: Adventurers are relaxed and warm, and their “live and let live” attitude naturally makes them likable and popular.

Sensitive to Others: Adventurers easily relate to others’ emotions, helping them to establish harmony and good will, and minimize conflict.

Passionate: Beneath Adventurers’ quiet shyness beats an intensely feeling heart. When people with this personality type are caught up in something exciting and interesting, they can leave everything else in the dust.

Curious: Ideas are well and good, but Adventurers need to see and explore for themselves whether their ideas ring true. Their creative and humanistic vision is often exactly what a project needs to move forward.

WEAKNESSES

Fiercely Independent: Freedom of expression is often Adventurers’ top priority. Anything that interferes with that, like traditions and hard rules, creates a sense of oppression for Adventurers.

Unpredictable: Adventurers dislike long-term commitments and plans. The tendency to actively avoid planning for the future can put strain on their romantic relationships and finances.

Easily Stressed: Adventurers live in the present, full of emotion. When situations get out of control, people with this personality type can shut down, losing their characteristic charm and creativity in favor of gnashing teeth.

Overly Competitive: Adventurers can sometimes escalate small things into intense competitions, turning down long-term success in their search for glory in the moment.
